New Fall Goods

Nearly all of our new fall goods are in stock. This is your best time to buy as a new adjustment of prices will have to be made very soon. In large cities they make up as fast as the cost to them increases. We handle it a little different. We go by what we have on hand at prices we have paid rather than what we will have to pay. Your interests are ours; we must work together to keep prices down.

New Fall Goods

While styles are not so very different from last fall, new goods will look very good to you. Styles are very smart, not loud or flashy, but with very well-defined lines. Very pretty.

Cloths for suits and dresses are all on a plainer order that lends that richness to the new fall costume.

Serges will be very good. Their wearing qualities cannot be questioned. We have several new Serges that are a good buy.

One lot of 43-inch All Wool Serges, in all of the staple colors. These Serges are all sponged and shrunk, and the price is but $1.00 per yard.

A beautiful line of 44-inch Serges. These in staple and fancy colors. All are sponged and shrunk. This is one of the best Serges to wear at any price. $1.25 per yard while they last.

Goods in Bargain Basement

In our Bargain Basement are lots of kinds that you can save quite a lot in price from goods bought in the usual way.

In our Bargain Basement are lots of Wash Goods, such as Gingham, Percales, Colored and Figured Muslins and odd lots of other Wash Goods.

Odd lots of Muslin Underwear, Gents' Fruit of the Loom Night Shirts, and Children's odd sizes in Hosiery.

In this Basement are Curtain Serges, Crashes and Towels at less than regular prices.

In this Basement are lots of kinds of Toys for the children. One of the best makes of Unbreakable Dolls on the market. These are the famous Campbell Kids that are so much advertised. They have natural faces. They please the children better than imported kinds.

Early Showing of Suits

We have now ready for your inspection and selection a good showing of Fall and Winter Suits. These Suits are especially attractive, the style lines are conservative and well balanced, the coats are longer and of straight lines, many of them belted with large buckles. The skirts are with a nice fullness.

The popular colors will be Navy, Brown, Balsam, Burgundy Taupe, Beetroot, and Black. These made up in such cloths as Poplins, Broadcloths, Cheviots, Men's Wear Serges, Bucilla Cloths and Wool Vellour. These are cloths that are very serviceable and attractive.

You need to see these models to appreciate their value. The prices are but a little more than other seasons.

Ladies' Separate Coats

This season bids fair to be the largest Coat season we have ever seen. The styles are very conservative and of materials that for style and service are the best that we have ever shown.

You should see this, our line of Coats. These Coats were bought very early, at prices that are more reasonable than you could imagine under the present conditions of the market. You will find here more than double the Coats that we were ever able to show in any other season before. We bought them early so as to get the cloths and get the price before the big advance. See these Coat values.

We have an unusually large line of the new fall waists now ready for your selection. The special silk waist we are showing at $2.00 are as good values as we have ever shown. The better waists at $3.75 and $5.00, in Crepe de Chine are very good. See our line of voile waists at $1.00 and $1.25.

Emery J. Newhall, a draughtsman employed at the granite manufacturing plant of Marston & O'Leary, has been appointed a county director of the Boys' Working Reserve, U. S. A., which has for its primary purpose the work of enrolling the boys of each state with the idea of placing some of them on the farms during the greatest periods of demand for help, and for industrial duty at other times when the boys are at liberty for such work. C. C. Barnes, a graduate of Norwich university in the class of 1914, who has been serving as secretary to the president of that institution, has received an appointment as state director of the reserve. It is hoped that by the beginning of the season of 1918, the directors will have a complete file of all available boys of the state. The national work of the organization is under the direction of William F. Hall of the U. S. department of labor at Washington. Mr. Newhall, the local director, has been closely connected with work among boy scouts of this vicinity.

South-end women gathered in numbers at the home of Mrs. Allan J. McLean of Boynton street last evening to witness the blooming of a night-blooming cereus, a plant which has been in the possession of the hostess for some time.

Early in the evening Mrs. MacLean noticed that a bud on the plant was beginning to open, and as the spectacle of a night-blooming cereus is somewhat rare, she thought herself to call some of the neighbors by telephone. Word ran through the neighborhood quickly, and by 11 o'clock, when the blossom was at its greatest beauty, a very large number of women were gathered around the plant. Many of them had never seen the cereus in bloom and were amazed to discover the breadth and wonderful formation of the blossom.

The remains were brought here from Washington by his brother-in-law, G. D. Martin, and his nephew, Frank Edgerton, who with Henry Poole and Newell R. Farnham, acted as bearers at the burial services. Prayer was offered at the grave by Rev. John Irons.

Frank O. Beckett was born in Williamstown on Sept. 12, 1841, and was one of ten children of Capt. William S. and Polly (Poole) Beckett, only three of whom survive. At 14 years of age he began work in the old Ainsworth store, owned by Calvin and Adolphus Ainsworth, where he remained several years. Later he went west to Edgerton, Ill., where he was for a time a partner of Rufus Walker, also of this town, in the mercantile business. Being troubled with asthma, he sold out and went to California, but did not stay in that state long, and returned to Williamstown for a time and then went in the year of 1874 to Washington, D. C., where he had since remained in the employ of the District of Columbia. Beginning as a clerk, he was advanced rapidly and for thirty years held the responsible office of purchasing agent for the district. Some years ago, finding the duties of this office a task on his strength, he requested of the commissioners of the district that he be relieved and this was granted, and he was assigned a clerical position in the office of the district, which he held till the time of his death, which was due to an affection of the heart. He was never married, his sister, Julia, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Martin, living with him for many years past. He was always much interested in the welfare of his native town and took much pleasure in spending his vacations here. The funeral services in Washington were held at the New York avenue Presbyterian church, of which he had been a member and a deacon for many years.

He leaves three sisters, Mrs. George D. Martin of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Emily Edgerton and Mrs. Mary Simons of Washington, Ia. He also leaves many nieces and nephews, these all living in the west with the exception of Judge Charles H. Beckett of New York, whose summer home in Williamstown is built on the site of the old house that was long the home of his grandfather, Capt. William S. Beckett, harness maker, justice of the peace, and town clerk in the days that are now recalled by but few of our citizens.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their words of sympathy and kind acts during our sad bereavement, also for the many beautiful flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Abair, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas St. John and family.
